

Fortress Press to publish Lutheran Quarterly Books

Minneapolis, September 2nd, 2016 - Fortress Press and Lutheran Quarterly Inc. are very pleased to announce a new publishing partnership. Effective Fall 2016, Fortress Press will be the official publisher of Lutheran Quarterly Books.

Fortress Press and Lutheran Quarterly have longstanding reputations of academic and scholarly service to the global Lutheran community. Under the editorial guidance of Paul Rorem, the Benjamin B. Warfield Professor of Ecclesiastical History at Princeton Theological Seminary, Lutheran Quarterly has continued to provide excellent historical and theological scholarship to Lutheran teachers, clergy, missionaries, and students. “Fortress Press is pleased to welcome the Lutheran Quarterly Books program into our publishing lists,” said Will Bergkamp, Vice President and Publisher for the imprint. “As a publisher with a rich history in Lutheran publishing, the work of this series will ground and augment an already widely-respected ecumenical academic monograph program.”

Lutheran Quarterly Books, formerly published by Eerdmans, has emphasized Lutheran theology and the history of doctrine, as seen in the three titles by Gerhard Forde, two volumes by Oswald Bayer, and two collections of essays on Luther’s teachings edited by Timothy Wengert.

Previous Lutheran Quarterly Book titles will be available through Fortress Press in late 2016. New LQB titles will commence in 2017. Look for the forthcoming release, The Life, Works, and Witness of Tsehay Tolessa and Gudina Tumsa, the Ethiopian Bonhoeffer, next spring.

“On behalf of our Associate Editors, authors, and readers,” noted Editor Rorem, “we are delighted to join forces with Fortress Press, a natural home for our endeavors to provide substantial and detailed studies in Lutheran theology and history.” Associate Editors for Lutheran Quarterly and therefore for Lutheran Quarterly Books are Timothy J. Wengert of The Lutheran Theological Seminary at Philadelphia (emeritus), Mark Mattes of Grand View University in Des Moines, and Mary Jane Haemig of Luther Seminary in St. Paul. For more on Lutheran Quarterly, see www.lutheranquarterly.com.